State Seeking Dismissal Of Manning Case

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlion asked U.S. District Court Friday to dismiss contempt charges against Cecil Manning, resigned voter registrar of East Carroll Parish.

Gremlion said he still was representing Manning since the federal government contended Manning still was registrar.

He argued charges should be dismissed because Manning was not indicted by a federal grand jury.

Federal rules of criminal procedure, he said, provide that where punishment may exceed one year in prison, imprisonment at hard labor the government must proceed by grand jury indictment.

INVOLUNTARY WORK

He also argued a conviction for criminal contempt would violate the 13th amendment to the U. S. Constitution, which forbids involuntary servitude.

Manning resigned several weeks ago in face of a federal court order that he cease discriminating in registration of voters. He said he resigned rather than continue his work in face of court threats.

The federal courts held Manning still was registrar even though he resigned and his resignation was accepted by the governor.

The government contends Louisiana's law requires an official to serve until his successor is named. Gremlion said in his new motions that forcing Manning to serve as registrar would violate the involuntary servitude section of the constitution.

U.S. Dist. Judge Ben C. Hawkins Jr. is scheduled to hear the motions and the contempt charge at 10 a.m. Monday at Monroe.

Gremlion also asked a jury trial for Manning on the contempt charges.

The federal government, meanwhile, has filed a motion in the suit asking Hawkins to review his refusal to order registration of 10 of 27 East Carroll Negroes who applied for registration to vote.

Judge Hawkins several weeks ago ordered 17 Negroes placed on the rolls, the first Negroes to be qualified to vote in that parish.

Area Aid Is Sought In Drought

Five northeast Louisiana parishes are among 20 in the state for which drought disaster aid has been requested by Gov. Jimmie H. Davis.

The five are Morehouse, West Carroll, Franklin, Winn and Jackson parishes.

Gov. Davis said Friday that he has asked U.S. Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman to provide the aid.

Dave Pearce, Louisiana's Commissioner of Agriculture, asked the governor to make the request.

The governor said he sent the following wire to Freeman:

"Due to severe drought conditions existing throughout the state, I request that you immediately exercise your authority under Public Law 874 and other existing legislation to provide for the following:

"That grazing and haying privileges be granted on land presently in the soil bank for the following parishes: Morehouse, West Carroll, Franklin, Red River, Natchitoches, Sabine, Grant, Vernon, Pointe Coupee, East Feliciana, St. Martin, Vermillion and St. Landry.

"That a livestock feed program be instituted in Winn and Acadia parishes.

"That the livestock feed program plus grazing and haying privileges be instituted in the parishes of Bienville, Jackson, Avoyelles, Evangeline and Allen."

Davis Says No Special Session

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Political circles rumored Friday there Louisiana Legislature in mid-September, but Gov. Jimmie H. Davis said he had "no plans" to call one.

Capitol sources said the session would be needed to enact additional legislation to cover the private school grant-in-aid situation.

Sen. E. W. Gravelle Jr., chairman of the Louisiana Financial Assistance Commission, said he saw no need for a special session on the tuition grants question.

He said the $1.2 million in the grants fund, being supplemented by $250,000 monthly, would be sufficient to take care of any situation short of an all-out statewide emergency in the event of total school integration.

Troops Begin Major Drive In Viet Nam

Air, Naval Units Support Push On Red Stronghold

CA MAU, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam is throwing what it hopes will be a Sunday punch—some 4,000 troops supported by air and naval elements—against the most stubborn Viet Cong stronghold in this war-torn republic.

The site is An Xuyen Province, a maze of canals, inundated rice fields and mangrove swamps at Viet Nam's southern tip.

The target is a Communist force of more than 2,000 regulars and guerrillas which has long held the region in a vice-like grip and mapped most of it as a "liberated zone," meaning an area in which the government had no control at all.

On the government side, three men have been injured.

Gen. Paul D. Harkins, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam and Thailand, cruised over the battle area Friday with members of the Vietnamese high command in a C-123 transport.

"This war goes in ups and downs," Harkins said. "But this looks like the makings of a highly successful job."

Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh, chief of staff of the Vietnamese armed forces, said the operation was No. 1 priority. The government drive is called Binh Dai, which means "Big Pacification."

Government forces uncovered late Thursday what they believed to be the central army depot for the whole Viet Cong force in the province, a force built around a battalion called U Minh.

Harkins inspected the arms—some still in wooden crates—at this provincial capital 15 miles southwest of Saigon.

A Viet Cong communications center was seized last night. This netted four tons of signal equipment, including radios of many types.

House candidates pressed around, too.

Satellite Network Bill Sails By Senate, 66-11

Vote Ends Long, Bitter Filibuster By Foes Of Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate late Friday overwhelmingly approved President Kennedy's bill to set up a worldwide communications satellite network after a small band of filibustering Democrats finally ran out of delaying tactics.

The bill passed 66 to 11. The vote, climaxing 19 days of often bitter debate, was a victory for the President's plan to establish a privately owned but government-supervised corporation to operate the system and was a defeat for the irreconcilable opponents in his own party who held out for government ownership.

The measure, which escaped unchanged from a host of proposed opposition amendments, now goes to the House. That chamber, which already has passed a similar bill, was expected to accept the Senate version and send it to the President for his signature.

East Algeria Army Yields To Ben Bella

ALGIERS (UPI) — The army in eastern Algeria has bowed to strongman Ahmed Ben Bella's political bureau and surrendered its political and administrative responsibilities, a communiqué from the city of Constantine said Friday night.

It said commanders of the FLN (Algerian liberation army) "have subscribed without reserve to the decisions of the political bureau fixing the limits of their duties and discharging them of the administrative responsibilities they have had up to now."

MAJOR STEP

The communiqué appeared to signal the first major step in converting the FLN movement into the single, all-powerful party that Ben Bella wants to guide the new country.

It made no reference to a gun battle which took place between rival army factions near Constantine Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. Informal sources said an Algerian soldier and a policeman were wounded in the shooting.

The communiqué made it appear that Ben Bella had succeeded in bringing to heel the divided army command in eastern Algeria. It said two party federations, one in Bone and another in Constantine, were set up as the main framework for the party in eastern Algeria.

The communiqué was issued after three days of conferences between Constantine army commanders and Ben Bella supporters Rahab Bitat and Col. Hadj Ben Alla.

Both are members of the political bureau and both returned here from Constantine.

Meanwhile, Ben Bella flew off for Constantine to attend a regional economic conference. He planned to go to Oran Sunday.

The Constantine clash followed a meeting between commanders of military zone No. 2 to discuss plans to put the army under central political control.

NEAR FIRE TOWER

Pulpwood Burns In Railroad Car

By HOWARD PAGE
World Staff Writer

One carload of pulpwood and a load of pine stumps burned near here Friday afternoon as flames broke out on a 32-car Illinois Central train.

The fire was discovered about 2:40 p.m. as the train was enroute to the Olin Mathieson paper mill in West Monroe. The train was about 14 miles south of West Monroe at the time, near the crossing in the Luna community.

Flames from the burning gondola car which was loaded with pine stumps ignited brush along the railroad track. However, the brush fire was confined to a small area and brought under control quickly by a fire-fighting crew from the Louisiana Forestry Commission.

NO ESTIMATE

There was no estimate available Friday night on damages as a result of the fire. However, train crewmen at the scene late Friday afternoon said the gondola car "might be a total loss."

The train and crewmen were from Winfield where they had taken on the 32 cars loaded with pulpwood, logs, chips and the one carload of stumps.

Crewmen said they first noticed the fire in the car containing the stumps which was next to the diesel engine. Unable to bring the flames under control, they unhooked the car from the rest of the train. They said fire from the car ignited brush alongside the track and the one car of pulpwood which burned caught from the brush fire.

A fire-fighting crew stationed at the Luna Fire Tower, located only about one-fourth mile from the scene, saw the smoke and arrived shortly after the fire was discovered. They plowed fire lanes and soon brought the brush fire under control before it could spread.

The test was completed in 12 minutes with a couple more minutes required to process the received negative.

The facsimile sheet could accommodate 12 newspaper pages of the reduced size used in Friday's experiment, conducted jointly by engineers of the Westrex communications systems division of Litton Systems, Inc., and Bell Laboratory personnel of American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Little Weather Change Seen

The weatherman sees little chance for change in the local weather picture today with a high of 94 degrees predicted and an overnight low of 68 expected.

Friday's high reached 97 degrees with the low recorded at 66. Partly cloudy skies are forecast through tonight with widely scattered showers possible today.

Court Order Halts Strike At Redstone

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—A federal district judge issued a temporary restraining order Friday night to halt an electricians' strike that has interrupted work on America's moon exploration program at the Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Ala.

Judge Clarence Allgood issued the five-day order after a short hearing with attorneys for the National Labor Relations Board—who had sought the injunction—and legal representatives of the union.

Carlton Bryan, NLRB chief in Birmingham, said the court move was taken in response to an order from Stuart Rothman, chief counsel for the NLRB in Washington.

CITES DAMAGE

Rothman acted on an affidavit from Dr. Werner von Braun, director of the Marshall Space Administration's (NASA) claims of damage to the U.S. space program.

The strike that started Tuesday in protest of the hiring of two non-union members tied up 40 construction projects at the Marshall Space Flight Center and

Three Die In Guinea Battling

HOLLANDIA, West New Guinea (UPI) — Dutch and Indonesian troops, ignoring a diplomatic settlement between their two nations over this Pacific territory, continued sharp fighting Friday.

Three Indonesians were killed, the Dutch military commander, Rear Adm. Leendert Reeser, announced.

"Several other Indonesians were injured as well as a number of Dutch troops," he added.

A formal agreement providing for the transfer of West New Guinea to Indonesia until a scheduled plebiscite is held was signed at United Nations headquarters by representatives of both nations Wednesday.

A cease-fire was set for one minute past midnight Friday night. But military sources here expressed fears that Indonesian commanders in many battle zones might not get the word of it by then.

Dutch forces have been issued strict orders to stop all offensives by midnight, officials said. They are to withdraw to "defensive positions."

Their sole duty following the cease-fire will be to maintain law and order and protect Dutch citizens.

With joyous exclamations and prayers of thanks, relatives received word Friday of the release of Americans long held prisoner by pro-Communist forces in Laos.

The good news led a priest to celebrate a special Mass of thanksgiving for his brother, John McMorrow, in a New York City church. In the congregation were their widowed mother, Mrs. James McMorrow, 60.

The priest, the Rev. Kevin McMorrow, a Graymoor friar attached to St. Joseph's Friary at Saranac Lake, N.Y., celebrated the Mass at 6:30 a.m. at the family's parish church, St. Matthew's, in Brooklyn.

At Gallaway, Tenn., Mrs. Edward R. Shore summed up her feelings in a two-word exclamation when told freedom had been

Vote Ends Long, Bitter Filibuster By Foes Of Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate late Friday overwhelmingly approved President Kennedy's bill to set up a worldwide communications satellite network after a small band of filibustering Democrats finally ran out of delaying tactics.

The bill passed 66 to 11.

The vote, climaxing 19 days of often bitter debate, was a victory for the President's plan to establish a privately owned but government-supervised corporation to operate the system and was a defeat for the irreconcilable opponents in his own party who held out for government ownership.

The measure, which escaped unchanged from a host of proposed opposition amendments, now goes to the House. That chamber, which already has passed a similar bill, was expected to accept the Senate version and send it to the President for his signature.

HISTORIC STEP

Final passage of the bill would mark an historic step toward live television, radio, telephone and telegraph communications between the United States and overseas nations, via space satellites. The technique was dramatically illustrated by the Telstar satellite.

To the very end opponents charged the measure would lead to a private monopoly and would be a "giveaway" of the taxpayers' investment in space research. They said the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., developer of Telstar, would be able

ALGIERS (UPI) — The army in eastern Algeria has bowed to strongman Ahmed Ben Bella's political bureau and surrendered its political and administrative responsibilities, a communiqué from the city of Constantine said Friday night.

It said commanders of the FLN (Algerian liberation army) "have subscribed without reserve to the decisions of the political bureau fixing the limits of their duties and discharging them of the administrative responsibilities they have had up to now."

MAJOR STEP

The communiqué appeared to signal the first major step in converting the FLN movement into the single, all-powerful party that Ben Bella wants to guide the new country.

It made no reference to a gun battle which took place between rival army factions near Constantine Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. Informed sources said an Algerian soldier and a policeman were wounded in the shooting.

The communiqué made it appear that Ben Bella had succeeded in bringing to heel the divided army command in eastern Algeria. It said two party federations, one in Bone and another in Constantine, were set up as the main framework for the party in eastern Algeria.

The communiqué was issued after three days of conferences between Constantine army commanders and Ben Bella supporters Rahab Bitat and Col. Hadj Ben Alla.

Both are members of the political bureau and both returned here from Constantine. Meanwhile, Ben Bella flew off for Constantine to attend a regional economic conference. He planned to go to Oran Sunday.

The Constantine clash followed a meeting between commanders of military zone No. 2 to discuss plans to put the army under central political control.

Pulpwood Burns In Railroad Car

By HOWARD PAGE
World Staff Writer

One carload of pulpwood and a load of pine stumps burned near here Friday afternoon as flames broke out on a 32-car Illinois Central train.

The fire was discovered about 2:40 p.m. as the train was enroute to the Olin Mathieson paper mill in West Monroe. The train was about 14 miles south of West Monroe at the time, near the crossing in the Luna community.

Flames from the burning gondola car which was loaded with pine stumps ignited brush alongside the railroad track. However, the brush fire was confined to a small area and brought under control quickly by a fire-fighting crew from the Louisiana Forestry Commission.

NO ESTIMATE

There was no estimate available Friday night on damages as a result of the fire. However, train crewmen at the scene late Friday afternoon said the gondola car "might be a total loss." The train and crewmen were taken on the 32 cars loaded with pulpwood, logs, chips and the one carload of stumps.

Crewmen said they first noticed the fire in the car containing the stumps which was next to the diesel engine. Unable to bring the flames under control, they unhooked the car from the rest of the train. They said fire from the car ignited brush alongside the track and the one car of pulpwood which burned caught from the brush fire.

A fire-fighting crew stationed at the Luna Fire Tower, located only about one-fourth mile from the scene, saw the smoke and arrived shortly after the fire was discovered. They plowed fire lanes and soon brought the brush fire under control before it could spread.

The test was completed in 12 minutes, with a couple more minutes required to process the received negative. The facsimile sheet could accommodate 12 newspaper pages of the reduced sizes used in Friday's experiment, conducted jointly by engineers of the Westrex communications systems division of Litton Systems, Inc., and Bell Laboratory personnel of American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

The weatherman sees little chance for change in the local weather picture today with a high of 96 degrees predicted and an overnight low of 68 expected.

Friday's high reached 97 degrees with the low recorded at 66. Partly cloudy skies are forecast through tonight with widely scattered thundershowers possible today.

LUNAR CONFERENCE

Warning On Moon Germs Is Sounded

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP) — As-

tronomer Carl Sagan of Berkeley, Calif., said Friday there is a "tragic possibility" that visitors to the moon may bring lunar germs back to contaminate the earth.

Sagan, on loan from the University of California to Harvard University's Smithsonian Astrophysical Laboratory at Cambridge, Mass., said the United States and Russia already almost certainly have deposited earth germs on the moon.

Sagan told a lunar exploration conference at Virginia Tech that unless proper safeguards are taken hardy micro-organisms that have survived throughout the ages on the lunar subsurface may be transplanted to multiply and spread rapidly in the lush environment of the earth.

"A bug that is not virulent elsewhere may cause a lot of trouble in a new environment," Sagan said.

Sagan said that the Soviet Lunik II rocket took germs to the moon when they smashed against that body.

He said the Soviets have indicated that they sterilized the Lunik rocket but have given no details. Sealed parts of the rocket probably were not likely carried earthy micro-organisms, he said. Ranger IV delivered micro-organisms to the moon by way of the retro-rockets used for slowing the craft before it smashed into the far side of the moon.

Sagan estimated that a million terrestrial micro-organisms may have been deposited on the moon by the two rockets.

Italy Police Capture Foe Of de Gaulle

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Jacques Soustelle, rightist former French minister for Algeria and foe of President Charles de Gaulle, was tracked down and captured by Italian police Friday while traveling in northern Italy with a false passport.

The police said he would be deported from Italy as an undesirable alien but would be allowed to choose his destination. They said Soustelle used an alias in a French passport in an effort to avoid detection.

Soustelle, who fell out with the De Gaulle government in Paris on the now resolved Algerian independence question, was not being formally sought by French authorities.

Soustelle had left France voluntarily—"to protect my freedom of speech," as he put it—after being forced out of De Gaulle's Cabinet. But since then he made at least one known trip back to France and held a news conference in Paris.

UNDER NEW REGULATIONS

Pass On The Left, Or Sometimes On The Right

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is not a new regulation which has been changed much since 1928 there were some problems.)

Under Louisiana's old highway regulations which had not been changed much since 1928 there were some problems.

One, for example, was that it was illegal to pass another car on the right, yet there was no law requiring cars to drive on the right or move over to the right hand lane of the road in order to let you pass them on the left.

This is changed under the new regulations.

First, on all multi-lane highways (two or more lanes in each direction) a driver must drive in the right lane, if he is going at "less than the normal speed of traffic at the time and place and under the circumstances then existing" — unless he is preparing for a left turn.

Also a driver should give way to the right when another driver sounds his horn to pass on the left.

Another change is that passing on the right is permitted under certain circumstances.

These are when the car being passed is preparing to make a left turn, on one-way streets or highways and on multiple-lane highways.

There is also a blanket safety clause in the law which makes passing on the right legal only "under conditions permitting such movement in safety."

SPECIAL CAUTION

There is a special caution in passing to the right that "in no event shall such movement be made by driving off the pavement or main traveled portion of the highway." Keep off the shoulders.

The law has a Section 76 entitled "Limitations on passing on the left" which will gladden the heart of many an irritated motorist. One of the most dangerous and annoying pieces of bad driving occurs when a driver passes over onto the left side of highway in order to pass a car and forces oncoming cars to slow down to let him back into the right hand lane in time to prevent an accident.

Passing, the law states, must "be completely made without interfering with the safe operation of any vehicle approaching from the opposite direction or any vehicle overtaken."

Other restrictions against passing on the left include a crest of a grade or a curve where the driver's view is obstructed, 100 feet before a railroad crossing or when view is obstructed when approaching within 100 feet of any bridge, viaduct or tunnel.

Restrictions also remain on passing school buses which are receiving or discharging school children. The law is: stop and do not proceed until the school bus leaves or you are signalled by the school bus driver to proceed.

This does not apply, however, for highways with separate roadways and controlled access highways when the bus is stopped at a loading zone where pedestrians are not permitted to cross the roadway.

There is also the requirement that no vehicle "shall cross the painted center line of any multiple-lane highway, except for purposes of making a turn."

Finally, there is the section which requires Louisiana drivers to stay on the right hand half of the road rather than on the left as in some countries such as England.

Part 3 will cover the regulations on turning, stopping, starting.

Boys Village Is State-Wide Organization

Boys Village at Lake Charles — a home for youngsters 12 through 16 — has been converted into a state-wide organization, president Vernon Keating told the Monroe Optimist Club Friday.

Keating and Elmer Shuts, board chairman, spoke to the Optimist Club, explaining that Boys Village is now able to accept youths from all over the state.

"We can handle up to 100 boys," Keating said. He is principal of Iowa High School near Lake Charles.

Shuts explained that Boys Village was started by the Lake Charles Optimist Club several years ago, but later was sponsored by a private group.

"Our budget next year will be $42,000 and we have the funds to build a dormitory for the boys," Shuts said. "All we need is the boys."

Keating pointed out to the Optimists that boys accepted in Boys Village are supervised closely, attend school at Iowa High and are required to attend the church of their faith on Sunday.

"Most of our boys stay with us more than three years," he said.

The speakers called on the Optimist Club to support the program, then visited with officials in Monroe before flying back to Lake Charles.

They were accompanied by Sam Puckett, a Lake Charles banker, and their pilot, Johnny Odom.

Negroes Head To Detroit

REDWOOD FALLS, Minn. (AP) — Five Negroes sent to this western Minnesota community by segregationists in Louisiana left today for Detroit to stay with relatives in the motor city.

Leaving by bus were Betty Beale, 21, her three children ranging from eight months to six years, and her sister Barbara, 16.

Betty Beale said the group had taken the offer of oneway tickets from their homes at Lake Providence, La., on the promise by a group calling itself the "Freedom 40 Club" that there were plenty of jobs and others of their race at Redwood Falls.

They found it wasn't the case and left just as the first reverse Freedom Rider did several days ago after finding only temporary work. James Reed, 42, also of Lake Providence, said he was going to Arizona.

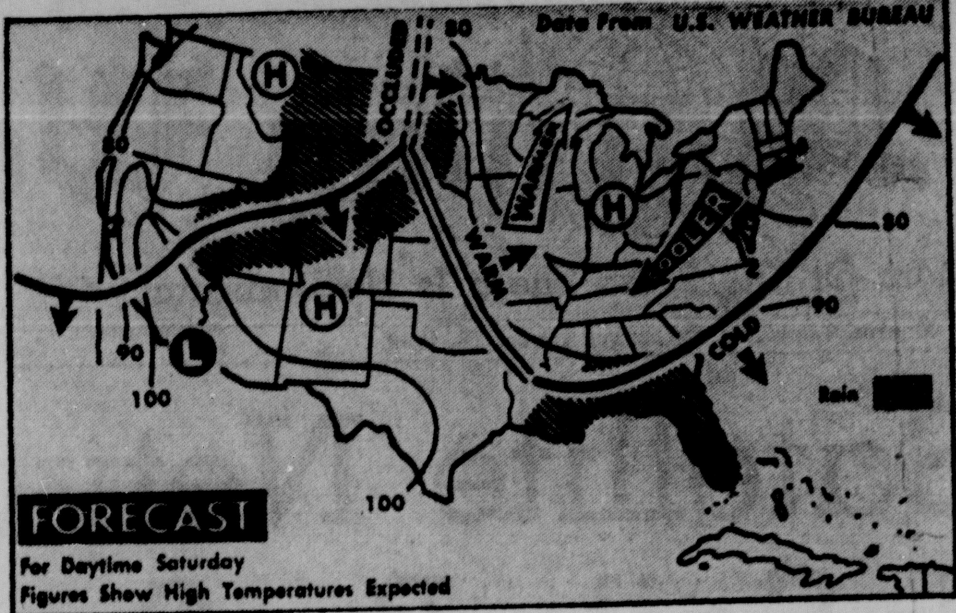

Meanwhile, at New Orleans, George Singelmann, originator of the reverse freedom rides, said today that Minnesota's treatment of migrating Negroes is un-American.

He sent a telegram to Gov. Elmer L. Andersen, following reports the Beales were leaving, which said: "Your vicious, un-American treatment of first-class citizens migrating from Louisiana to the new frontier of Minnesota is deeply resented by us."

Singelmann is a director of the pro-segregation Citizens Council of Greater New Orleans.

At St. Paul, Minn., Andersen, who had named a fact-finding committee of three to work with Redwood Falls citizens on the migration problem, said he had no comment on the Singelmann telegram.

"My letter to Gov. Jimmie speaks for itself," said Andersen. Andersen Thursday wrote the Louisiana governor calling it "cruel deception" and "barbarism" when Negroes are sent north under false pretenses.

SCATTERED SHOWERS are expected Saturday in east Gulf coast states and Florida and in northern Plains and northern and central Plateau states. It will be cooler from New England southward through Atlantic coast states, the Ohio and Tennessee valleys and lower Mississippi valley. ## Italy Police Capture Foe Of de Gaulle

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Jacques Soustelle, rightist former French minister for Algeria and foe of President Charles de Gaulle, was tracked down and captured by Italian police Friday while traveling in northern Italy with a false passport.

The police said he would be deported from Italy as an undesirable alien but would be allowed to choose his destination. They said Soustelle used an alias in a French passport in an effort to avoid detection.

Soustelle, who fell out with the De Gaulle government in Paris on the now resolved Algerian independence question, was not being formally sought by French authorities.

Soustelle had left France voluntarily—"to protect my freedom to speak," as he put it—after being forced out of De Gaulle's Cabinet. But since then he made at least one known trip back to France and held a news conference in Paris.

Sen. Thurmond Delays Senate Vote On Bohlen

WASHINGTON (AP) — An objection by Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., blocked a Senate vote Friday on President Kennedy's nomination of Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen as ambassador to Paris.

Bohlen's nomination was passed over until next week as the Senate proceeded to confirm the nomination of Foy D. Kohler as ambassador to Moscow.

Also confirmed was the nomination of William R. Tyler to succeed Kohler as assistant secretary of state for European affairs, and these other nominations:

UNDER NEW REGULATIONS

Pass On The Left, Or Sometimes On The Right

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is part 2 of a series on Louisiana's new highway regulations which are now in effect throughout the state.)

Under Louisiana's old highway regulations which had not been changed much since 1928 there were some problems.

One, for example, was that it was illegal to pass another car on the right, yet there was no law requiring cars to drive on the right or move over to the right hand lane of the road in order to let you pass them on the left.

This is changed under the new regulations.

First, on all multi-lane highways (two or more lanes in each direction) a driver must drive in the right lane, if he is going at "less than the normal speed of traffic at the time and place and under the circumstances then existing" — unless he is preparing for a left turn.

Also a driver should give way to the right when another driver sounds his horn to pass on the left.

Another change is that passing on the right is permitted under certain circumstances. These are when the car being passed is preparing to make a left turn, on one-way streets or highways and on multiple-lane highways.

There is also a blanket safety clause in the law which makes passing on the right legal only "under conditions permitting such movement in safety."

SPECIAL CAUTION

There is a special caution in passing to the right that "in no event shall such movement be made by driving off the pavement or main traveled portion of the highway." Keep off the shoulders.

The law has a Section 75 entitled "Limitations on passing on the left" which will gladden the heart of many an irritated motorist. One of the most dangerous - and annoying - pieces of bad driving occurs when a driver passes over onto the left side of highway in order to pass a car and forces oncoming cars to slow down to let him back into the right hand lane in time to prevent an accident.

Passing, the law states, must "be completely made without interfering with the safe operation of any vehicle approaching from the opposite direction or any vehicle overtaken."

Other restrictions against passing on the left include a crest of a grade or a curve where the driver's view is obstructed, 100 feet before a railroad crossing or when view is obstructed when approaching within 100 feet of any bridge, viaduct or tunnel.

Restrictions also remain on passing school buses which are receiving or discharging school children. The law is: stop and do not proceed until the school bus leaves or you are signalled by the school bus driver to proceed.

This does not apply, however, for highways with separate roadways and controlled access highways when the bus is stopped at a loading zone where pedestrians are not permitted to cross the roadway.

There is also the requirement that no vehicle "shall cross the painted center line of any multiple-lane highway, except for purposes of making a turn."

Finally, there is the section which requires Louisiana drivers to stay on the right hand half of the road rather than on the left as in some countries such as England.

Part 3 will cover the regulations on turning, stopping, starting.

For July 184 tons (16 loads) of blacktop was used. For June, 60 tons (12 loads).

Culvert installation footage rose from June's 892 feet to 961 feet in July. Ditching and grass-cutting rose to 17,300 feet in July from June's 14,702.

Other comparative June-July figures were: Gravel hauled, July, 16 loads, 80 sq. yds.; June, 27 loads, 135 sq. yds.; garbage hauled, July, 148 loads, June 181 loads; brush hauled, July, 241 loads; June, 297 loads; and boxes from commercial buildings hauled out of the city July 181, June 168.

Vote Ends Long, Bitter Filibuster By Foes Of Plan

Administration backers, led by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., and Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., the bill's floor manager, countered that the measure contained adequate safeguards against any monopoly abuses.

The opponents' days were numbered after Tuesday when the Senate voted for the first time in 35 years to limit debate. The closure restricted each senator to one more hour of debate. The opponents tried to stretch this out by parliamentary delaying tactics and by offering a flood of amendments.

The chamber relentlessly defeated more than 120 amendments, 85 of them Friday alone. Proposed changes were defeated singly and in blocks of as many as 18 at a time. Opponents termed this "mass execution."

Senate leaders refused to accept any of the changes lest his force a House-Senate conference and lead to another Senate filibuster over a compromise.

As the opponents time ran out and the vote was at hand, Mansfield rose to say, "I honor those who opposed the bill for their tenacity, their deep convictions and their thorough preparation."

But Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., leader of the filibuster bloc, stuck by his guns right up to the vote. In an emotional summary, he said flags in Washington "should be lowered to half-mast" as the bill passed.

Morse said Kennedy was "dead wrong" on the space communications issues and had "blackened his record by not protesting the gag rule on debate."

Under the legislation, a corporation would be formed to set up and operate a system of global communications using satellites. The organization would be privately owned but regulated by the government.

Symington was angered by Humphrey's statements to newsmen after his appearance on the stand Thursday. Humphrey charged that the inquiry into his M. A. Hanna Co. nickel contract with the government is politically motivated and constitutes a "stab in the back."

The Missouri senator, himself a wealthy man and former industrialist, said this was an insult to the Senate.

"They don't dare attack like former President Dwight D. Eisenhower direct so they are attacking me," Humphrey, 72, honorary chairman of Hanna, had been scheduled for a second day on the witness stand before the Senate subcommittee headed by Symington.

He directed the vast Hanna mining interests before stepping out to join the Eisenhower Cabinet. Symington opened the hearing with a statement objecting to Humphrey's comment on the inquiry.

SYMINGTON BY STATEMENTS

Symington Halts Humphrey Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., abruptly halted hearings Friday on nickel stockpiling after Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., refused to hear further testimony by Humphrey at the Senate Armed Services Subcommittee hearing on nickel stockpiling. (AP Wirephoto)

With the figures as to his own and his company's profits on these contracts, but now impugns the motives of the Senate and this subcommittee," Symington said.

"Yesterday the subcommittee listened to a long statement from Mr. Humphrey—and then allowed him to make many speeches in reply to questions, many of which questions he did not answer."

"There are some discrepancies in his testimony, however, and the subcommittee intends to obtain written clarification from him."

Symington said he believes the government "has a clear case against the Hanna Company, not only against their income tax returns, but also to recover at least $1 million because of faulty and improper charges that violated the contract."

After reading his statement, Symington announced plans to adjourn the hearings, "subject to call of the chairman."

Sen. Prescott Bush, R-Conn., objected to adjourning while a witness waited to testify and said "this is a political exercise."

Bush complained that no top policy officials of the Harry Truman administration have been called despite requests.

Negotiations for the disputed Hanna nickel contract were carried on largely in the closing days of the Truman administration in 1952-53.

The contract was signed Jan. 16, 1953, four days before Humphrey was sworn in as secretary of the Treasury.

Will Be Hiked

In West Carroll

OAK GROVE (Special) — Superintendent of schools C. W. Gilmore has announced students will be paying 15 cents instead of 12 cents for their lunches for the 1962-63 term. This three cent increase is due to the legislative cut of three cents in the amount of state aid provided per meal.

A similar increase will be made in the amount charged teachers and staff members for their school lunchroom meals.

Also discussed was the overcrowding conditions of the two colored schools. No definite action was taken.

Gilmore reported that service from the new Epps water and sewerage system was offered the board for Epps High School at an annual flat fee of $600. This matter is being studied by the board.

About 15 groceries operate on Sunday now in West Monroe. The meeting followed by one week one in which 30 open-Sunday merchants were told by Rep. Lawrence Gibbs that he was awaiting an opinion on the law from Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion. The interpretation had not come through Friday.

West Monroe Street Superintendent Slim Townson Friday said blacktop patching increased during the hot, dry days of July, with 35 more tons of blacktop being used than in June.

For July 104 tons (16 loads) of blacktop was used. For June, 69 tons (12 loads).

Culvert installation footage rose from June's 892 feet to 961 feet in July. Ditching and grass-cutting rose to 17,590 feet in July from June's 14,762.

Other comparative June-July figures were: Gravel hauled, July, 16 loads, 80 sq. yds.; June, 27 loads, 135 sq. yds.; garbage hauled, July, 168 loads, June 181 loads; brush hauled, July, 241 loads; June, 297 loads, and boxes from commercial buildings hauled out of the city July 181, June 168.

Vote Ends Long, Bitter Filibuster By Foes Of Plan

to control the new system.

Administration backers, led by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., and Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., the bill's floor manager, countered that the measure contained adequate safeguards against any monopoly abuses.

The opponents' days were numbered after Tuesday when the Senate voted for the first time in 35 years to limit debate. The closure restricted each senator to one more hour of debate. The opponents tried to stretch this out by parliamentary delaying tactics and by offering a flood of amendments.

The chamber relentlessly defeated more than 120 amendments, 95 of them Friday alone. Proposed changes were defeated singly and in blocks of as many as 18 at a time. Opponents termed this "mass execution."

Senate leaders refused to accept any of the changes lest his force a House-Senate conference and lead to another Senate filibuster over a compromise.

As the opponents time ran out and the vote was at hand, Mansfield rose to say, "I honor those who opposed the bill for their tenacity, their deep convictions and their thorough preparation."

But Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., leader of the filibuster bloc, stuck by his guns right up to the vote. In an emotional summary, he said flags in Washington "should be lowered to half-mast" as the bill passed.

Morse said Kennedy was "dead wrong" on the space communications issues and had "blackened his record by not protesting the gag rule on debate."

Under the legislation, a corporation would be formed to set up and operate a system of global communications using satellites. The organization would be privately owned but regulated by the government.

REPORTERS CROWD around George M. Humphrey Friday after Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., refused to hear further testimony by Humphrey at the Senate Armed Services Subcommittee hearing on nickel stockpiling. (AP Wirephoto)

SYMINGTON HALTS HUMPHREY HEARING

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., abruptly halted hearings Friday on nickel stockpiling after for-George M. Humphrey angrily told him "You wouldn't dare" do it.
Symington said hearings would resume only after further investigation of the $98-million stockpile deal.

Symington was angered by Humphrey's statements to newsmen after his appearance on the stand Thursday. Humphrey charged that the inquiry into his M. A. Hanna Co. nickel contract with the government is politically motivated and constitutes a "stab in the back."

The Missouri senator, himself a wealthy man and former industrialist, said this was an insult to the Senate.

"They don't dare attack Ike (former President Dwight D. Eisenhower) direct so they are attacking me," Humphrey, 72, honorary chairman of Hanna, had been scheduled for a second day on the witness stand before the Senate subcommittee headed by Symington.

He directed the vast Hanna mining interests before stepping out to join the Eisenhower Cabinet. Symington opened the hearing with a statement objecting to Humphrey's comment on the inquiry.

"Humphrey not only disagrees with the figures as to his own and his company's profits on these contracts, but now impugns the motives of the Senate and this subcommittee," Symington said.

"Yesterday the subcommittee listened to a long statement from Mr. Humphrey—and then allowed him to make many speeches in reply to questions, many of which questions he did not answer."

"There are some discrepancies in his testimony, however, and the subcommittee intends to obtain written clarification from him," Symington said he believes the government "has a clear case against the Hanna Company, not only against their income tax returns, but also to recover at least $1 million because of faulty and improper charges that violated the contract."

After reading his statement, Symington announced plans to adjourn the hearings. "Subject to call of the chairman," Sen. Prescott Bush, R-Conn., objected to adjourning while a witness waited to testify and said "this is a political exercise."

Bush complained that no top policy officials of the Harry Truman administration have been called despite requests for the disputed Hanna nickel contract were carried on largely in the closing days of the Truman administration in 1952-53.

The contract was signed Jan. 16, 1953, four days before Humphrey was sworn in as secretary of the Treasury.

Lunch Prices Will Be Hiked In West Carroll

OAK GROVE (Special) — Superintendent of schools C. W. Gilmore has announced students will be paying 15 cents instead of 12 cents for their lunches for the 1962-63 term. This three cent increase is due to the legislative cut of three cents in the amount of state aid provided per meal.

A similar increase will be made in the amount charged teachers and staff members for their school lunchroom meals.

Also discussed was the overcrowding conditions of the two colored schools. No definite action was taken.

Gilmore reported that service from the new Epps water and sewerage system was offered the board for Epps High School at an annual flat fee of $600. This matter is being studied by the board.

Firemen's Work In July Outlined

Twenty-four fires fought in July by West Monroe firemen outnumbered by six the number encountered in June.

Fire Chief E. C. Taylor said his firemen spent 17 hours, 28 minutes actually fighting fires in July. In June, six hours, 42 minutes was spent on 18 alarms. Salaries of the 21 men, who totaled 6,732 hours, came to $7,330 for July. Supplies cost $248.25.

West Monroe's three chiefs averaged 48 hours each per week, as did the three alarm operators. Officers and firemen averaged 84 hours.

Grocers Slate Closing Meeting

Next week West Monroe's grocers will meet at the West Monroe Chamber of Commerce office for an as yet indefinitely scheduled meeting to ponder the state's newly-passed Sunday closing law.

Hilburn and May grocery store owner Homer Hilburn, who favors closing groceries on Sunday, is spearheading the meeting to study the law merchants have termed vague.

About 15 groceries operate on Sunday now in West Monroe. The meeting followed by one week one in which 30 open-Sunday merchants were told by Rep. Lawrence Gibbs that he was awaiting an opinion on the law from Atty. Gen. Jack Gremlion. The interpretation had not come through Friday.

Smear Attempt

It appears that Democratic Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri is attempting to smear the Eisenhower administration through the war stockpiling investigation, rather than actually trying to find out what happened, if anything.

These efforts of the subcommittee which Symington heads are puny, pitiful, petty politics of the worst kind and should make every American feel nothing but disgust.

Actually Senator Symington is using a contract with a mining company that was signed by the government during the Truman administration figuratively to tar and feather President Eisenhower's Treasury Secretary, George Humphrey — presumably with "unconscionable profits" when he ordered the stockpile investigation some four months ago.

Mr. Humphrey testified before the Symington committee Thursday. On the day before, Senator Symington put on the stand a government accountant who told of contracts between the Hanna Mining Co., of which Mr. Humphrey was president before and after his eight years as Treasury Secretary. The idea was to smear Mr. Humphrey before he testified.

(In his testimony, Mr. Humphrey disputed virtually all financial data offered by the accountant. But in this discussion we are not dealing with Mr. Humphrey's testimony, we are dealing with proven facts established over the years before Mr. Humphrey testified voluntarily.)

The accountant said Mr. Humphrey got $2.3 millions in dividends through stocks in the mining company during his eight years in the cabinet. The company sold nickel to the government for its stockpile of strategic war reserves, and nickel in the stockpile now is far beyond defense needs, as is almost everything else. The accountant also said the value of Mr. Humphrey's stock rose by $5.7 millions during those eight years.

A pro-Kennedy network television news show broadcast this as "testimony that Mr. Humphrey made 8 million dollars in his eight years in the Eisenhower Cabinet on nickel contracts with the government."

That is quite false — 100 per cent.

Here are the facts from official records of the sub-committee and otherwise most of which the accountant did not mention — nor did Senator Symington in his past or present discussions of the Humphrey case:

1. Mr. Humphrey appeared before the Senate Finance Committee on July 19, 1953, for questioning on his coming nomination by Mr. Eisenhower as Treasury Secretary. (The new President announced his cabinet before inauguration so that confirmation proceedings by the Senate could be started quickly.)

Mr. Eisenhower was inaugurated and Mr. Humphrey took office on January 20. At the January 19 hearing, Mr. Humphrey testified that the Hanna Mining Co., of which he was president, had signed a contract three days earlier — January 16 — to explore and open nickel deposits in the west, this being done at the request of the government, meaning a shortage of nickel, a vital war metal, in this country. Mr. Humphrey volunteered this information. In other words, he was in effect asking the committee if it saw any objection. He said he was giving up corporation posts paying him $300,000 a year but that he would not give up his Hanna stock.

All negotiations for the nickel contract were carried out and contracts signed under the Truman administration; all of Mr. Humphrey's public relations, widely published at the time, came before the Eisenhower administration or Mr. Humphrey took office.

In full knowledge of this, the Democratic Finance Committee approved Mr. Humphrey's nomination unanimously. The Committee included such prominent Democrats as Lyndon Johnson, now Vice President; Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, Russell Long of Louisiana, the late Walter George of Georgia, Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, and former Vice President Alben Barkley of Kentucky.

The 2 to 1 Democratic Senate, in full knowledge of the Hanna nickel contract, confirmed Mr. Humphrey unanimously.

2. Whatever dividends Mr. Humphrey got from Hanna were from its entire operations which included numerous mining operations — coal, iron ore, lead, zinc and others. The nickel development was a new field — and the federal government wanted exploration. It was a gamble for the company and stockholders. But the Korean War was demonstrating a dangerous shortage of nickel in this country and Hanna took over the job of trying to find new supplies.

3. As for increase in the value of Hanna stock, that is not "profit." It is capital gain. "Profit" would be what is left from any sale of stock less capital gains and other taxes.

4. If Mr. Humphrey rolled up a paper gain in stock value, let it be remembered that Thursday's N.Y. Stock Exchange listings in The World show that Hanna stock has dropped around 36% in value since the Kennedy administration stock market crash. If Mr. Humphrey still holds the stock, he lost several million dollars in its value when the President's attack on steel touched off a market powder keg already near explosion. Actually, the records show, all nickel sold the government by Hanna was at below market prices.

Perhaps the Senate Finance Committee — or the Senate itself — should have demanded that Mr. Humphrey divest himself of his Hanna stock, just as Charles E. Wilson was forced to sell his General Motors stock before becoming Secretary of Defense. But it didn't, and it was a Democratic Committee and a Democratic Senate that failed to make such a demand and there is plenty of sound argument that the Democrats — and the Republicans who joined them — were quite right. The Hanna company was dealing with the Defense Department — under Truman in the initial contract and under Eisenhower in various fulfillments of it — and not with Mr. Humphrey's Treasury Department at any time in the whole eight years.

This strategic stockpile case is just another example of what happens when the federal government tries to control prices and markets and production through subsidies in one form or another. Farm surpluses now amount to more than 8 billion dollars. Strategic war surpluses run nearly 9 billion more. However, war surpluses do have permanent value — they don't rot away like some farm surpluses.

The war stockpile was considered, after our horrible shortage at the start of War II, to be a crash program — essential for a future war. It was to cover a war and post-war recovery of five years. In 1958 this estimate was changed to 3 years.

That meant 40% less stockpile needed than was on hand. This automatically created a surplus of 40% on hand, equivalent to about 3 billion dollars. Thus, more than a third of the present surplus in the war stockpile came into being simply through a change in Pentagon viewpoint as to how long a future war might last.

The war stockpile policies were very much those of policies for the farm surpluses — which was started under Roosevelt and Truman.

Metals for the war stockpile were bought to help foreign countries — as an adjunct to foreign aid. Wobbly American mining industries were helped with purchases

Wiley's Victory Apparent
Wisconsin's Senior Senator Presses Strong Campaign At Age 78

Barring a spectacular upset, it looks as if Republican Senator Alexander Wiley will have little trouble winning a fifth term this fall.

The latest statewide poll, by the reputable Wisconsin agriculturist, gives Wiley a big margin — 49 per cent, to Governor Gaiyard Nelson's 31, with 20 per cent undecided. And Nelson himself frankly admits "Wiley has the edge."

That appears to be putting it mildly. Nelson is up against a number of exceptionally formidable obstacles in his ambitious campaign to unseat Wiley. These tough hazards confront the Democratic governor in both his own party and from his veteran G.O.P. opponent, as follows:

(1) Although 78 and seeking a fifth term, Wiley is vigorously campaigning, stressing his high seniority in the Senate and on key committees. He is the top Republican on three major committees—Foreign Relations, Judiciary and Aeronautical & Space Sciences. In the event of Republican control of the Senate, Wiley would have his choice of the chairmanship of one of these potent committees.

(2) He has a long record of licking redoubtable rivals, foremost among them the late Senator Joe McCarthy. In 1956, when McCarthy was at the peak of his influence, he sought to defeat Wiley in the G.O.P. primary. Although McCarthy threw his full weight against him, Wiley won hands down.

(3) While the Republicans now are actively united behind Wiley, and he has a well-organized and amply-financed campaign machine, Nelson has numerous headaches in his party. Funds are scarce; he and state Democratic chairman Pat Lucey are at bitter odds; Attorney General John Reynolds, the party's candidate for governor, has openly differed with Nelson on a hot tax issue; and voluble Democratic Senator William Proxmire and the Kennedy administration so far have given few indications of enthusiasm for Nelson.

This is one of the strangest aspects of this Senate race.

HELPING THE OTHER GUY—While the administration and Proxmire haven't come out for Wiley, they have done nothing against him.

In fact, in one instance the administration gave him a decidedly helpful boost.

One of Governor Nelson's principal campaign planks is his conservation record. Directly countering this, Vice President Lyndon Johnson appointed Senator Wiley to the National Forest Reservation Commission, which makes policy on federal forest lands. And that wasn't all.

Wiley was photographed in Johnson's office being warmly congratulated on his appointment — a politically effective picture that Wiley promptly distributed, in mat form, to every newspaper in Wisconsin.

Reports also have been circulating for some time that the White House is "satisfied" with Wiley. He favors the President's controversial trade liberalization measure; voted for his $100 million United Nations bond proposal; and generally goes along on foreign policy. Also, Wiley does little partisan criticizing.

Proxmire's attitude toward Nelson also is curious.

When Washington friends of the Governor undertook a fund-raising reception in his behalf, Proxmire refused to sponsor it. They had to turn to Minnesota's Senator Hubert Humphrey. Proxmire finally did make a brief appearance at the affair, but didn't contribute.

Nelson says he is confident that the President and Proxmire will campaign for him. Neither has so far said so.

There has been no indication from the White House that the President contemplates electioneering in Wisconsin. A definite date already has been set for him to do so in October in adjacent Illinois, on behalf of the senatorial candidacy of Representative Sidney Yates. But there has been no word about doing that for Nelson in Wisconsin.

And while it is a rare day that Proxmire does not take the Senate floor several or more times and talk, often at length, about innumerable subjects, he has yet to say anything in behalf of Governor Nelson.

It looks as if Nelson is getting the big chill both coming and going — from Wiley on one side, and from Wisconsin and national Democratic leaders on the other.

Note: — According to Senate clerks, Proxmire is the wordiest member of the chamber. He is constantly on his feet talking about something, or cluttering up the Congressional Record with numerous insertions. From his record, he appears to be a compulsive speaker — to whom his colleagues pay little attention. His many amendments almost always are voted down, most of the time without even a roll call.

RALPH de TOLEDANO
Sound Instinct
Britain's Experience With National Health Service Was Warning

The president believes that in his fight for medicare, he has lost a battle and not the war. He is convinced that if he can "sell" the Congress on federalized medicine — rather than trying to work on individual members — he will be able to get his bill passed within a reasonable length of time. And so he has embarked on a quiet "educational" campaign on the Hill. Medicare failed of passage, however, because many Americans were instinctively afraid of it. That instinct was sound, as a study of the British National Health Service shows.

When, right after the war, Britain set up its government-financed medicare program, its socialist sponsors estimated that it would cost 170 million pounds a year — and that this figure would remain relatively stable. For this, they promised vastly improved medical and hospital care for the lower income groups. What happened?

In its first year of operation, the National Health Service cost 377 million pounds — or more than twice what had been estimated. In 1960, the cost had skyrocketed to 820 million pounds. This far exceeds the rise in the cost of living which has tripled since 1938. At three large British hospitals, the number of beds has declined, though the British were told that the health service would extend hospital facilities. Average weekly cost per patient has been multiplied by 11 in one of those hospitals, by nine in the second, and by six in the third. Administrative costs increased from eleven-fold to eighteen fold.

Taking the country as a whole, the number of staffed hospital beds increased by 4% per cent between 1950 and 1960. However, in the 10-year period 1929-38, when the hospitals were privately owned, the number of beds increased 33 per cent. Given the increasing population, the 4% per cent for the past decade has meant a loss in relative facilities — which accounts for the half million people on waiting lists for hospitalization in 1960. At present, beds are immediately available only for emergency and acute cases. Those with hernia or other such ailments must wait — and wait.

Hospital building has almost ground to a halt, with but a single new one built in the last 13 years — even though the British are being taxed an average of one pound per week for each family to maintain the National Health Service. In 1939, one expert has pointed out, there were more hospital beds per unit of population in Great Britain than in the United States. They have now fallen behind us.

This may sound like the criticism of the American Medical Association and other "reactionaries." But this is what the British Labor Party had to say in 1939 about bureaucratized (and expensive) medicine:

"Too many doctors' surgeries (clinics) are still grim and gloomy; too many hospitals are out-of-date and makeshift; the mental hospitals are overcrowded and dilapidated and, in spite of gallant efforts by those in charge, are quite unsuitable for modern psychiatric care; the committees and staff of the (National Health) Service have been frustrated by endless administrative delays, and inevitably enthusiasm has been diminished." The Labor Party failed to mention that the cost of drugs and other medicines has also skyrocketed during the last 10 years — from 37 million pounds annually to 89 million pounds.

under maneuvering by mining-state members of Congress, Senate and House.

Purchases of metals which became surplus were made from Brazil to bolster anti-Communism.

Most of this $8.8 millions in surplus came into being through domestic and foreign policy, as did the farm surplus — not through graft or corruption. It is time to end the policy — but also to understand the facts.

Now, as Senator Symington tries to smear the Eisenhower administration through Mr. Humphrey, and as President Kennedy talks of "unconscionable profits," it was revealed in Symington subcommittee testimony a few days ago (with no blaring of horns by Mr. Symington) that Mr. Kennedy's Secretary of Agriculture, Orville Freeman, is trading farm surpluses at the rate of $120,000,000 a year for metals from foreign countries to add to surpluses of those metals already in the stockpile! And that has come entirely in the four months that have passed since Mr. Kennedy first denounced the stockpile and ordered investigation!

Major on what you do understand, about the Bible and it is very likely you will have a successful life. "Thy word is truth."

At three large British hospitals, the number of beds has declined, though the British were told that the health service would extend hospital facilities. Average weekly cost per patient has been multiplied by 11 in one of those hospitals, by nine in the second, and by six in the third. Administrative costs increased from eleven-fold to eighteen fold.

Taking the country as a whole, the number of staffed hospital beds increased by 4% per cent between 1950 and 1960. However, in the 10-year period 1929-38, under maneuvering by mining-state members of Congress, Senate and House.

Purchases of metals which became surplus were made from Brazil to bolster anti-Communism.

Most of this $8.8 millions in surplus came into being through domestic and foreign policy, as did the farm surplus — not through graft or corruption. It is time to end the policy — but also to understand the facts.

Now, as Senator Symington tries to smear the Eisenhower administration through Mr. Humphrey, and as President Kennedy talks of "unconscionable profits," it was revealed in Symington subcommittee testimony a few days ago (with no blaring of horns by Mr. Symington) that Mr. Kennedy's Secretary of Agriculture, Orville Freeman, is trading farm surpluses at the rate of $120,000,000 a year for metals from foreign countries to add to surpluses of those metals already in the stockpile! And that has come entirely in the four months that have passed since Mr. Kennedy first denounced the stockpile and ordered investigation!

SYLVIA PORTER
Attack On Dollar
British Press Reports Not Founded
On Fiscal Fact

U. S. Government officials charged with the responsibility of protecting and maintaining confidence in the U. S. dollar might well as they read the London newspapers these days be muttering the British proverb, "God save me from my friends; I can take care of my enemies."

For the attacks in the British press on our U. S. dollar in recent weeks have been nothing short of vicious. The contemptuous attitude Britain's commentators are taking toward every effort we make to balance our international financial accounts, stem the drain on our gold reserve, hold the dollar's value where it has proudly remained for over 28 years is almost incredible, considering this is the press of our closest ally. The eagerness with which the British correspondents seize on every adverse statistic as an indication that we can't hold the dollar and will be forced to devalue it is, as usually mild speaking Under Secretary of the Treasury Robert Roosa said out loud the other day, "resorting to desperate contrivances to create" alarm about our dollar. The downgrading of every bright statistic arouses the suspicion that the commentators want most to be prophets — and don't care what evil they do to the whole free world in the process.

The attacks have been constant and it's almost a sure bet they'll mount in intensity between now and mid-September, when the world's top financiers gather in Washington for the annual meetings of the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank. This sort of pressure on a currency already being sniped at is commonplace before these meetings.

It's not inconceivable that the alarm being fed by the press reports — most of them unfounded and the rest wildly exaggerated on the adverse side — could increase the drain on our gold, particularly from such large holders of dollars as the Germans, the French, the Swiss, the Belgians. Certainly the speculators will be breathing hard during these next few weeks.

Why? What are we doing about it?

The "why" is a familiar story. For years, we have been spending more money abroad than we have been taking in from abroad and running a big deficit in our balance of payments. As a result, our foreign creditors have built up huge claims in dollars against our gold reserve and, as the banker of the world, we pledge to honor all claims of our foreign creditors in gold on their demand. Our gold hoard has been shrinking steadily. If suddenly there was a concerted run on our reserves, we couldn't possibly pay off all the claims in gold.

This is the background for the stories that we'll solve our problems by raising the price of gold from its present $35-an-ounce level — which would be devaluing the dollar because there'd be less gold in each dollar.

Says a London Observer writer: "While European bankers believe that 'given time and adequate help, the dollar problem could be overcome, few expect these to be forthcoming. Sentiment is working against the dollar."

Says a Sunday Times correspondent: "Although the U. S. resents questions about the dollar, 'Europe will have the last word' and the world price of gold will 'no longer be primarily determined in or by the U. S.'"

Says a London Daily Telegraph commentator: "There is a 'fundamental lack of confidence in the three systems of gold, dollar and sterling' and 'to defeat speculators is not to provide any kind of cure' for this fundamental lack."

Meanwhile what are we doing about this? We have launched a major program to slash the deficit in our international accounts — and it is being reduced. We have entered into an unprecedented series of agreements with the free world's central bankers to combat speculation. President Kennedy has pledged again that we "are not going to devalue." We are informing the London press with admirable restraint that devaluation could hardly be done by a stroke of the President's pen; it would take an act of Congress, and Congress is no more anxious to do this than the President.

We are also making it plain that we can balance our accounts any day we wish just by slashing our defense spending overseas and our foreign aid — which should be a clear warning to our critics that if they try to force our hand they might bitterly regret it.

The affluent society of the United States in 1962 is hardly the war devastated economy of Britain when she devalued in 1949 — and to suggest a similarity is malicious. As an Englishman said in the 15th century, "God save me from my friends..."

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN
Senility Problem
Task Of Caring For Aged, Debilitated Parents Universal

The problem of caring for aged parents is a universal one. It is especially trying for loving children to see former kind parents change into entirely different persons. This letter is an example:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Recently I took my mother, who is 75, to our doctor. She hasn't been herself lately. She accuses each one of my brothers and sisters of stealing her money and other things. Now she is accusing outsiders. When she talks to strangers she makes it sound so normal and natural that I don't wonder they may believe she is telling the truth. To think that we'd steal — and from our own mother! Why does she do these things?

She also says she hears someone banging on her door at around 2 a.m. But we're sure there is no one. Please help us understand what is wrong. Is there help for mother, or will she always be this way?

She was a sweet person and devoted to her children, now she is turning against us with these false accusations. She gets very cross and her eyes get almost wild at times. Her face has a hard look to it now. What is there to do? — Mrs. K.

Comment: You haven't mentioned what your doctor told you, so I have a feeling that he wasn't too hopeful about it. My guess is that your mother is suffering from cerebral arteriosclerosis. This means that the blood circulation in her brain has been cut down because the arteries are being obstructed by cholesterol and lime salts. Therefore, insufficient blood and oxygen are getting to the brain cells so they can function normally. In fact, she may already have had one or more small strokes, actually impairing the brain itself.

Personality changes such as you describe are awfully hard for children to bear. However, they can do so more philosophically if they realize that the parent is unaware of the unhappiness he (or she) is causing. She is still basically the same sweet person you say she was when she was younger; but disease, over which she has no control, has changed her.

In many similar patients, nothing much can be done to help. But there are some who have been helped when their doctors prescribed tranquilizers. I have seen agitated and difficult patients such as your mother who improved after taking chlorpromazine, or similar medicines. Sometimes niacin helps. Why not talk it over with her doctor?

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Is there any preventive measure or any cure for the changes in the skin as one approaches old age? Moles are appearing, and brown patches (some as big as a dime). I have used advertised creams but they don't help. Will vitamins help? — Mrs. I.

Comment: I don't know of any preventive treatment — nor of any cure, either. If you are having a well rounded diet you won't need vitamins. Hormone creams don't help as a rule. I guess all you can do is use some cover-up paste or cream, which are sold in drugstores, just for that purpose. I agree that simple moles and brown spots can be disheartening even though they are no threat to health.

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet, "Get the Snooze Habit," will be mailed to you on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin for handling. Address your request to Dr. Steincrohn, c-o this newspaper.

Stumbling Giants Jolted By Braves

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City's Bill Fischer slow-balled the New York Yankees into submission Friday night and his teammates mounted a nine-hit attack that beat the American League leaders 7-2.

Twins, BoSox Split

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. Paul (AP) — Minnesota and Boston battered each other's pitchers for 11 home runs Friday night as the Red Sox bounced back to claim a 9-4 victory in the second game of a doubleheader after the Twins had taken the opener 7-3.

The Sox bombed Twins starter, George Maranda for four circuit blows in the windup tilt after the Twins had tagged Boston starter Ike Delock and reliever Mike Fornieles for a like number of homers in the opener.

Winning pitchers weren't immune from the home binger. The Red Sox' Earl Wilson got credit for the Boston victory but was tapped for a solo homer by Bernie Allen and a two-run blow by Zoilo Versalles before he was lifted.

The Twins' Jack Karliek, winner in the opener, gave a two-run four-bagger to Boston's Lou Clinton in the sixth inning.

Wilson got himself a cushion in the second inning of the second game when he socked a Maranda fast ball over the left field fence with two men on base.

Eddie Bressoud tripled in a run and scored himself on a wild pitch in the fifth. The Red Sox added another run on Clinton's solo shot in the sixth and two on bases-empty clouts by Gary Geiger and Bressoud in the seventh.

The Twins made a brief comeback on Versalles' two-run blow in the bottom of the seventh, but Dick Radatz relieved Wilson and slammed the door.

Clutch Relief By Raymond Saves Win

MILWAUKEE, (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves handed San Francisco another jolting blow by defeating the stumbling Giants 6-4 Friday night with the help of clutch relief pitching by rookie Claude Raymond and a two-run homer by Lee Maye.

The defeat dropped the second-place Giants 3½ games behind the front running Los Angeles Dodgers, who beat Cincinnati 6-2. Raymond, a 25-year-old right-hander called up from Toronto of the International League June 28, picked up his eighth save in rescuing starter Bob Shaw in the eighth inning. Raymond struck out Orlando Cepeda and Willie McCovey to leave two Giants stranded in the eighth and then blanked San Francisco in the ninth.

The Giants collected 11 hits, including home runs by Willie Mays and Cepeda while the Braves managed only eight off San Francisco starter Juan Marichal. However, Milwaukee put together four hits for two runs in the fourth and then combined two singles, a walk and a two-base error by Chuck Hiller for another pair in the fifth. Maye hit his eighth homer with a mate aboard in the seventh.

Maye, the major league home run leader, hit his 38th in the fourth while Cepeda led off the seventh with his 24th circuit smash.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Los Angeles Angels swept both ends of a two-night doubleheader against Washington, 4-3 in 10 innings and 3-2, gained 1½ games on New York and now trail the Yankees by four games.

Leon Wagner's 29th homer in the 10th inning won the opener and Lee Thomas' 17th home run hit into the right field seats in the third inning, decided the second contest.

Don Lee, who went 6 2-3 in the Los Angeles, was the winning pitcher and ran his record to 10-9. The loser was Ed Ho- baugh, who lasted four innings and now is 1-1.

The Angels now have won 13 of their last 20 games and collide next week with the Yankees in an important three-game series.

Wagner's home run in the opener was the first for the big outfielder since July 29. It came off Jim Hannan, who relieved starter Steve Hamilton in the eighth inning.

Little Boys Baseball Inc., officials will hold their annual meeting of officers today at a joint meeting of the organization's national board of directors and state directors.

The meeting, set for 3 p.m. in the penthouse of the Penn Hotel, is the first of several activities held in conjunction with the sixth annual Little Boys Baseball Dixie World Series, in West Monroe.

Approximately 24 league officials are expected to attend the session, according to LBB president, Matt Goyak, of Georgetown, S.C.

Alteration of any standing rules is expected to be the major course of business for the Sunday session.

National and state directors and their wives will be treated to a boat ride on the Ouachita River on James A. Noe's "Noe's Ark" beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Giles Lifts 12:50 Curfew For Rest Of This Season

CINCINNATI (AP) — National League President Warren C. Giles lifted the 12:50 a.m. curfew Friday for the rest of the 1962 baseball season.

Giles also said he's assuming the authority to decide whether any game shall be postponed because of bad weather.

National League rules state that no inning of any game shall be started after 12:50 a.m. local time. The decision on starting or postponing a game because of weather usually is up to the home team.

Giles' actions were taken under league rules which say the league president may suspend the rules during the final series between any two baseball clubs in the league.

FIFTH DEFENSE OF CROWN Moore Defeats Finn, Holds Title

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — World featherweight champion Davey Moore of Columbus, Ohio floored Olli Maeki three times and stopped the inexperienced Finn in 2 minutes 35 of the second round Friday night in the fifth defense of his title.

Referee Barney Ross, the former lightweight and welter king, halted the one-sided contest after Maeki went down for the third time in the second round. It was the first title fight ever held in Scandinavia.

Moore spent the first round feeling out his opponent, who had only 10 previous pro fights. The champ stepped up the pace at the end of the first and came out firing in the second.

The champ ripped Maeki's body with a series of lefts and then lashed out with his powerful right hand. Maeki, at 125½ pounds, got up, only to run into another flurry of hooks as Moore stalked his dazed opponent. He went down again, and then a third time. When the Finn came up defenseless after the third knockdown, Ross stepped in and ended the fight.

Moore, fit and confident at 126, exactly the class limit, spent the first round coolly circling his opponent. For the first minute of the fight he didn't throw one punch. Then he started to cut down his man.

Maeki, 25, a former European amateur champ with an 8-1-1 record, never had been knocked out.

The globe-trotting champ received a purse of about $35,000 from an estimated 600,000 from the crowd at the Olympic Stadium. Maeki was the first Finn to fight for a world title.

Criticized by the National Boxing Association which thought he was not taking on the toughest opponents in his class, Moore may move into more rugged competition in his next defense. The NBA wants him to defend against Sugar Ramos of Cuba. Willie Ketchum, Moore's manager, said he was considering an offer to fight Ramos in Los Angeles. Previously he had said he would want $75,000 for the fight. Maeki was not ranked by NBA.

Moore, 28, is the longest reigning current boxing champ, having won his title March 18, 1959, by knocking out Hogan (Kid) Bassey. He defended it against Bassey later in the same year and put in on the line once in 1960 and twice in 1961.

In a preliminary, Eddie Cotton, light heavyweight contender from Seattle, dominated his 10-rounder against Pekka Kokkonen and scored his second victory over the Finn. There were no knockdowns but Cotton, weighing 173½, shook up his rival several times.

Sisler, who twice topped 400 (1920-22), was the most optimistic of the group.

"The ball is more lively now, and the strike zone is smaller," he observed. "There's no reason why there shouldn't be another 400 hitter."

"When I was young, everyone said there would never be a 4-minute mile and that no one would ever jump seven feet. Records are made to be broken, and are being broken in every other sport. Why not baseball?"

Sisler cautioned modern day players, however, to think about more than slugging home runs.

"When players recognize that other factors in baseball are as important as the home run—and start getting paid accordingly—then they'll concentrate more on such things as base running and fielding."

'Stan Musial Night' Postponed By Rain

NEW YORK (AP)—It took 21 years to do it, but a New York National League baseball club finally found a way to handuff Stan Musial—don't play him.

A driving rain storm, accompanied by high winds and some hail, late Friday afternoon washed out a scheduled New York Mets-St. Louis Cardinals game at which the Cards' great hitting star was to be honored with "Stan Musial Night."

The ceremonies were postponed until Saturday night, preceding the second game of a day-night doubleheader.

Musial, who picked up his nickname "The Man" from the damage he wrecked on the old Brooklyn Dodgers at Ebbets Field, has done some of the most lusty hitting of his long career in New York City parks.

He decided to play this season partly because of the chance to play in New York again, this time against the new Mets.

He promptly picked up where he left off when the Giants and Dodgers moved west. On his last trip to New York Musial cracked four consecutive homers, one on his last time up July 7 and the first three times he batted July 8.

The Mets, however, just to show there were no hard feelings, decided to give the man a "night," the first such ever accorded an out of town player in New York.

Musial has requested that all money collected go to establish a scholarship fund at Columbia University.

Bucs Beat Phils

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Southpaw Harvey Haddix, staked to a 9-0 lead, pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 9-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Friday night and ended the Phils' winning streak at six games.

Haddix, winning his eighth game against the losses, had a shutout going into the ninth when Don Demeter blasted a solo home run over the left field scoreboard for the Phils' only run.

Haddix gave up nine hits, walked three and fanned six.

Colts Clip Cubs

HOUSTON (AP)—Pinch-hitter Hal Smith singled with the bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth Friday night, capping a two-run Colt rally, and bringing Houston to a 3-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Veteran knuckleball specialist Barney Schultz, who came on in relief with batterymate Moe Thacker, wild pitched the tying run across the plate before Smith delivered the game-winning blow.

The Colts started their two-run rally when Roman Mejias singled off Dick Ellsworth, Cub starter.

Bob Anderson came in to pitch and Bob Aspromonte promptly singled Mejias to third. Anderson was yanked in favor of Schultz.

OILERS, PATRIOTS CLASH

New Orleans To See Cannon Again Tonight

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Halfback Billy Cannon, the bruising Heisman trophy winner who led Louisiana State University to the top of the grid heap four years ago, returns home tonight as he leads the Houston Oilers against the Boston Patriots here.

The American Football League exhibition, expected to draw close to a capacity 26,000 into the City Park Stadium, will mark Cannon's first professional appearance in his home state.

Kickoff is scheduled for 8 p.m. (CST).

TEST FOR PRO TEAM

It also stands as a test for professional football in New Orleans, which has been hopeful of land- ing an AFL team either through transfer or creation of a new club.

The stadium—possibly enlarged—would probably house any New Orleans AFL team.

Cannon, who grew up and played high school and collegiate football in Baton Rouge—just 80 miles north of here, is the big attraction—but certainly not the only one.

The Oilers, who have won both of their exhibition games so far this year, hold the enviable spot of being the only champion the AFL has produced in its first two years. This year's edition seems equally strong, even though quarterback George Blanda, the ageless passing and kicking wizard of the Texas team, has seen limited service after a thyroid operation.

Blanda did get into last week's 33-17 victory over Denver long enough to kick four field goals and three conversions, but young Jack Lee masterminded the Oilers offense and tossed a 41-yard scoring pass to little Charlie Hennigan.

Professional football's first doubleheader—a two-night affair today in Cleveland—heads the weekend exhibition schedule for National Football League clubs who now find the start of the season less than a month away.

The Detroit Lions, led by ex-Cleveland Browns' quarterback Milt Plum, meet the Dallas Cowboys in the first game at Cleveland tonight and the Browns, with ex-Detroit quarterback Jim Nantz at the helm, play the Pittsburgh Steelers in the nightcap.

70,000 ANTICIPATED

A crowd of 70,000 is anticipated for the novel event, and its success could spell more of the same in the future. The Lions were beaten by the Browns a week ago in the first head-to-head meeting of the two quarterbacks since they were the chief items in a multi-player deal between the two clubs.

Dallas was drubbed by the Green Bay Packers last week and the Steelers, with All-American Bob Ferguson of Ohio State at fullback, beat the Chicago Bears.

The Packers, 2-0 in exhibition games, meet St. Louis in Jacksonville, Fla., the Bears and Philadelphia Eagles play in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and the Los Angeles Rams face the Minnesota Vikings in Portland, Ore., in other Saturday night NFL activity.

The New York Giants and San Francisco 49ers have a Sunday game in San Francisco.

2 Teenagers Set Record Swim Paces

CHICAGO (AP)—A pair of young teenagers, Ginie Duennel of Summit, N.J., and Sharon Finerman of Los Angeles, set world-record shattering paces in the National Women's AAU Outdoor Swimming Championships Friday.

Miss Finerman, 16, churned the 400-meter individual medley in 5 minutes 25.4 to beat out her Los Angeles Athletic Club chum, Carolyn House, also 16, by about three meters. Miss House was timed in 5:28.4.

World record-holder Donna DeVarona, 15, of Santa Clara, Calif., was third in 5:30.7.

Donna's world mark is 5:34.5. Miss Finerman has a 5:21.9 pending, setting this startling pace July 29 in Oaka, Japan.

The unheralded 15-year-old Miss Duennel cracked the listed world record in the 200-meter backstroke in 2:32.1.

The 25-second sophomore of West Orange High School beat out Donna DeVarona of Santa Clara, Calif., in a great last 50-meter duel in the Portage Park pool. Donna was clocked in 2:33.1.

The accepted world mark is 2:33.2 by Satako Tanaka in Tokyo last year. However, last July at Osaka, Miss Tanaka was clocked in 2:31.6, a mark pending certification as a world record.

Pam Sheets of Phoenix, Ariz., won third in 2:33.9, followed by Jan Haroun, Santa Clara, Calif., 2:35.4 and defending champion Nina Harmer, Philadelphia, 2:35.7.

The two lassies extended a sensational series of record-busting in the combined women's national and the men's invitational international competition.

Australian Murray Rose, in a special swim-off against Alan Somers of Indiana University, shattered the listed world record in the 400-meter freestyle with a time of 4:13.4.

The 23-year-old Olympic champion, had just bettered the American record of 4:17.5 in the regulation 400-meter freestyle event of the men's meet.

Somers pressed him through the first two laps of the 50-meter tank before Rose churned away. Somers was timed in 4:23.5.

The present one of 4:15.9 was set by Australia's Jon Konrads in Sydney in 1960.

Last week in the nationals at Akron, Rose was timed in 4:17.3. Don Schollander, the 16-year-old phenom from Indianapolis, churned the 200-meter freestyle in 2:00.4 to match the world mark set by Toshiyoshi Yamanaka of Japan in 1961. He did the same in the nationals at Akron last week.

Jon Konrads of Australia was second in 2:02.1, with Roy Sarris of El Segundo, Calif., third in 2:02.5.

OILERS, PATRIOTS CLASH

New Orleans To See Cannon Again Tonight

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Half-City Park Stadium, will mark back Billy Cannon, the bruising Heisman trophy winner who led the Louisiana State University to the top of the grid heap four years ago, returns home tonight as he leads the Houston Oilers against the Boston Patriots here.

The American Football League exhibition, expected to draw close to a capacity 28,000 into transfer or creation of a new club. The stadium—possibly enlarged—would probably house any New Orleans AFL team.

Cannon, who grew up and played high school and collegiate football in Baton Rouge—just 80 miles north of here, is the big attraction—but certainly not the only one.

The Oilers, who have won both of their exhibition games so far this year, hold the enviable spot of being the only champion the AFL has produced in its first two years. This year's edition seems equally strong, even though quarterback George Blanda, the ageless passing and kicking wizard of the Texas team, has seen limited service after a thyroid operation.

Blanda did get into last week's 33-17 victory over Denver long enough to kick four field goals and three conversions, but young Jack Lee masterminded the Oilers offense and tossed a 41-yard scoring pass to little Charlie Hennigan.

CANNON PLACE-KICKER

The week before, the Oilers had subdued the stubborn New York Titans 33-27 with Lee throwing for two touchdowns and Cannon turning place-kicker by connecting for field goals of 33 and 42 yards.

It was another example of the versatility of Cannon who can run, pass, kick and catch, and who would be one of the AFL's top defensive halfbacks if he played both ways.

If the Oilers' pre-season tune-ups have shown the same combination that brought them titles in 1960 and 1961, the Patriots have been trying something new.

Fresh off a late-season surge last year that brought them seven victories and a tie in nine games—the only loss was to Houston—and it cost Boston the Eastern Division title—coach Mike Holovak has been alternating two of offensive teams and two on defense.

His quarterbacks have been Kentucky's Vito (Babe) Parilli and Michigan State's Top Yewic. Parilli, particularly, showed to good advantage in the Patriots' 12-7 victory over Buffalo Wednesday night, as did the AFL's scoring champion, Gino Capelletti, kicked two field goals though he missed four others.

PATRIOTS SQUARED

That victory squared the Patriots' slate at 1-1 after a 21-20 opening loss to Oakland, in which Capelletti also accounted for two three-pointers. The big rushing star for Boston so far has been Billy Lott, the former Mississippi star.

Returning to action tonight will be Boston's rookie line-man Billy Neighbors, the Alabama all-America.

Ticket sales for the contest have picked up substantially in the past week with more than 21,000 seats now sold. A National Football League exhibition two years ago between Pittsburgh and Green Bay drew 14,000 fans.

Conde Released

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox announced Friday the outright release of third baseman Ramon Conde to Indianapolis of the American Association. Conde's release makes room on the roster for Verle Tieszen, a right-handed pitcher acquired from the San Francisco Giants.

Conde played in 14 games for the White Sox and was hitless in 17 times at bat.

San Diego might find Denver troublesome. The Broncos came out best of any of the clubs in the equalization draft, getting on San Diego and quarterback Rich-ard Lucas from Buffalo among five choices it exercised. Denver gave Houston a good ball game at Atlanta last week before losing 33-17.

Two Games Set In Semi-Finals

BASTROP (Special) — Bastrop takes on Bonita at Mer Rouge and Forest pays Kilbourne at Oak Grove Sunday in the last of a best-of-three series in semi-finals of the Northeast Louisiana Baseball League.

Both games are slated to begin at 2 p.m. If either contest requires a second game it will be seven innings.

The two semi-final winners will meet in another best-of-three series for the league title beginning August 26. All semi-final and final games will be broadcast by northeast Louisiana radio stations.

West Monroe Softball

Brownville defeated Tennessee Gas, 6-2, Friday night in the third and deciding game of the semi-final playoffs in the West Monroe Softball League.

Brownville tangles with Olin, winner of the other semi-final, on Monday night at 7 p.m. in the opening game of the best two-out-of-three series for the league championship.

Salters limited Tennessee to three hits while chalking up the victory Friday night. Brown handled the catching. Estep paced the winners' 12-hit attack with two safeties in three tries. Mobley and Parker were the losers.

Professional football's first doubleheader—a two-night affair to-day in Cleveland—heads the weekend exhibition schedule for National Football League clubs who now find the start of the season less than a month away.

The Detroit Lions, led by ex-Cleveland Browns' quarterback Milt Plum, meet the Dallas Cowboys in the first game at Cleveland tonight and the Browns, with ex-Detroit quarterback Jim Ninkowski at the helm, play the Pittsburgh Steelers in the nightcap.

70,000 ANTICIPATED

A crowd of 70,000 is anticipated for the novel event, and its success could spell more of the same.

It is no secret that Musial, now 41, decided to play this season partly because of the chance to play in New York again, this time against the new Mets.

He promptly picked up where he left off when the Giants and Dodgers moved west. On his last trip to New York Musial cracked four consecutive homers, one on his last time out July 7 and the first three times he batted July 8.

The Mets, however, just to show there were no hard feelings, decided to give the man a "night," the first such ever accorded an out of town player in New York.

There will be no expensive gifts. Musial has requested that all money collected go to establish a scholarship fund at Columbia University.

IN NEW YORK

'Stan Musial Night' Postponed By Rain

NEW YORK (AP)—It took 21 years to do it, but a New York National League baseball club finally found a way to handcuff Stan Musial—don't play him.

A driving rain storm, accompanied by high winds and some hail, late Friday afternoon washed out a scheduled New York Mets-St. Louis game at which the Cards' great hitting star was to be honored with "Stan Musial Night."

The ceremonies were postponed until Saturday night, preceding the second game of a day-night doubleheader.

Musial, who picked up his nickname "The Man" from the damage he wrecked on the old Brooklyn Dodgers at Ebbets Field, has led some of the most lusty hitting of his long career in New York ball parks.

WITH 11-UNDER PAR 133

Campbell Leads St. Paul Tournery By One Stroke

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Stocky Joe Campbell of Pendleton, Ind., enjoying his best year on the pro tour, took a one stroke lead in the $30,000 St. Paul Open Golf Tournament Friday with an 11-under par 133 at the end of 36 holes.

The former Purdue University ace's 5-under-par 67 Friday put him one shot in front of Dave Ragan, Sun City, Fla., Johnny Park, Gulf Hills, Miss., and 47-year-old Pete Cooper, West Palm Beach, Fla.

Campbell moved to the front as the pros continued their batterling of Keller Courses' par 72, a 6,557 yard layout on a warm, sunny, windless day which made scoring easy.

At the end of 36 holes, 51 players had broken par and five others matched it.

Campbell, his iron shots setting up easy putts, as three under on the first nine and two under coming in. His only bogey came on the 16th where he hit into the rough and his eight iron shot dropped short of the green. He had shared the opening lead with five others at 66.

National PGA Champion Gary Player, whose chipping ruined a good round on opening day, shot a 5-under-par 67 to get back into contention at 137.

It took 149 or better to make the cut for the 70 low and ties for Saturday's third round.

YOUR PROBLEMS

By Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My dear sister died two months ago in childbirth. It was her first child and her husband is filled with grief. He turned the baby over to me to raise and I intend to bring her up as if she were my own.

I am 35 years of age and have never married. The baby's father is a fine man and I know he is terribly lonely. We have had some long talks and without coming right out and asking, I'm pretty sure he would like to marry me. I would accept his proposal in a minute, but I'm afraid of what people might say.

Under the circumstances I'm sure my sister would approve. It would be wonderful for the baby, too, to grow up with her own father.

Please give me your thinking on this very important matter. I am going to take your advice. -LOUISVILLE WOMAN

DEAR WOMAN: A four or five month courtship period will tell you what you want to know. Never mind what anyone else says or thinks. If you two get along well together and wish to marry, go ahead.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 18, graduated from high school last June and went steady with Steve for three straight years. I know what you think of going steady and you are right, but I was too dumb to see it. Steve was the most attractive boy in school and I was plain-looking. I was scared to relax my grip for fear some girl would get him away.

After graduation he began to cool off. He seemed to go out of his way to start an argument. Finally he blew up and said, "Find someone else to haul you around. I feel like you've got me in chains!" That was the way our three-year romance ended.

Now I'm marooned. My telephone never rings, except for a few girl friends who want to know if I've killed myself yet. How can I get back into circulation? Where do I start? Please help me before I dry up and blow away. -FADING FAST

DEAR FADING: A girl who has won an "Occupied" sign around her neck for three years can hardly expect the fellows to beat her door down the minute she is available. Be patient. The word will get around. And while you're waiting, it may be a good idea to have a little party and invite yourself a date.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

HOT POTATO SALAD

In European homes, potato salad is frequently served hot, accompanied by delicious sausages or frankfurters. One recipe calls for 1/2 pound of bacon, diced. Fry until crisp over a medium gas flame. Add 1/2 cup chopped onion and cook 3 minutes. Add 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon salt, 1/2 cup water, 1/2 cup vinegar and cook, stirring constantly until mixture comes to a boil. Lower the flame, add 5 cups cooked and sliced potatoes and toss gently until potatoes are hot. Serves 6.

HINTS FROM Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

We bought a house that has a light with a pull chain over the bathroom mirror. Why, I don't know!

For two years I cleaned this mirror daily because all of the family reach up, grab the string, and after it is pulled, it "flops" all over the mirror... causing more marks.

Now, here is my answer and I think I am quite bright to think of it, don't you? (I sure do, and the reason I know is because I have read the rest of your letter and tried it, Heloise.)

I went to the dime store and bought a curtain pull. These are ordinarily used on blinds but anyone could put anything that is weighted on the bottom of this string.

I bought a RED curtain pull. The reason I did this was so that when my family goes to the bathroom — and they are usually absent-minded — they will see "red" and will pull on this immediately instead of reaching up on the mirror where they always leave their fingerprints.

I find that this not only eliminated cleaning the mirror every day but the pull holds the string straight and prevents scratching as well.

NEW HOME OWNER

DEAR HELOISE:

I know there are many people who string beads! I am a farmer's wife and I have found that after the beans are washed you can plunge them into boiling water for about three minutes and then drain. The strings then can be removed with complete ease.

OCIE WHITE

DEAR HELOISE:

Adhesive bandages are wonderful for many things besides patching cuts. Mark that pie plate or ceramic dish you send to a friend, to church socials, etc. Apply the adhesive bandage on the bottom of the dish and write your name on it with a ball point pen! PATCHER

DEAR HELOISE:

I remove the printed matter on my flour sacks by soaking them overnight in a solution of kerosene and warm water. I follow this by washing as usual.

CLEAN FLOUR SACK

DEAR HELOISE:

Whisk brooms are wonderful, but sometimes they are too blunt to get into some places. I take a pair of scissors and trim the whisk broom to a point so that it can get into lost corners, behind grills and between radiators. BILL

DEAR HELOISE:

Some people only use rubber scrub gloves once a month. I suggest that the people who are in my category turn their rubber gloves wrong side out, dust them slightly with talcum powder or even old common ordinary starch. S.

DEAR HELOISE:

I know you will not believe this but... just try it, please! When you are making a gelatine salad, if you will add a teaspoon of vinegar to each recipe, this vinegar will keep the gelatine from melting when you put it on your plate. Heloise, don't ask me why... I have just found out it is so after hearing it from all of my neighbors.

Wedding Vows Repeated In Olla Baptist Church

Baskets of white chrysanthemums and an arc of English ivy and Stephanotis, decorated the First Baptist Church of Olla for the wedding of Miss Carolyn Dunn and Bob Albritton, which was solemnized Sunday, August 12, at 3 p.m. Miss Dunn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Dunn of Olla, and Mr. Albritton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Albritton of Tallos.

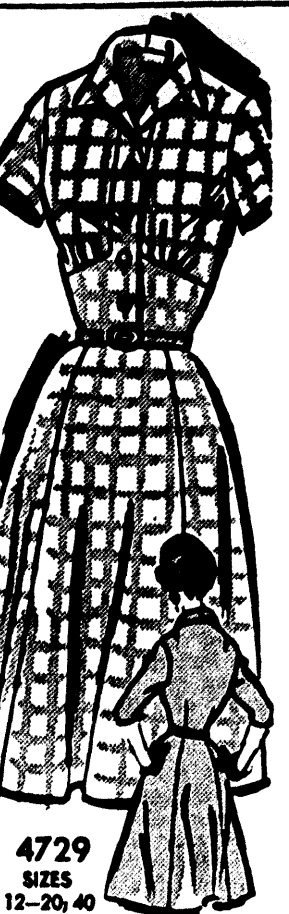

Rev. B. E. Cox officiated at the double ring ceremony. A program of nuptial music was presented by Don Brockner and Mrs. William Moody sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." Given in marriage by her uncle, George Dawson of Monroe, the bride wore a floor length gown of white silk mist, fitted bodice fashioned with princess neckline was scalloped with an imported rose applique in each scallop. A tiara of double seed pearls held the finger tip veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white orchid and stephanotis.

Mrs. Vernon George, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Jimmie Lee Finley served as bridesmaid and Miss Brenda Sue Stott as flower girl. The attendants were dressed in identical gowns of lilac silk mist, with matching headresses and ascade bouquets of pink chrysanthemums. Elvin Albritton served as best man at his brother's wedding. Groomsmen were Dock Eldon Dunn, brother of the bride and Freddy Shepperd. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Dunn chose a blue silk lace. Mrs. Albritton wore bridesmaid taffeta. Following the ceremony a pink reception was held in the church social hall. Mrs. Sue Wimberry served the wedding cake and Miss Joy Lynn Holloman poured the punch. For the wedding trip to Houston, Texas, the bride changed to a pink ensemble with white accessories and an orchid corsage. The bride is a graduate of LaSalle High School and North-western State College. The groom is also a graduate of LaSalle High School and attended North-western. After the wedding trip the couple will be at home in Olla.

PONYTAIL

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

RESERVING JUDGMENT

McNamara Delays Nike Zeus Verdict

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara feels the Nike Zeus antimissile system is more effective than it was nine months ago.

But he has told associates there still is a real question whether it is effective enough to warrant production.

While pleased with the Nike Zeus interception of an Atlas intercontinental missile target warhead last month, McNamara is reserving judgment on the future of the controversial project.

Sources in position to know said the Zeus intercept of the Atlas target warhead over the Pacific did not overcome the basic doubts in McNamara's mind.

The problem, as he sees it, is not the relatively simple one of knocking down one missile at a time. It is the infinitely more complex one of dealing with a saturation attack by a barrage of enemy warheads and of being certain the missile-killer attacks the real thing and not decoys.

Army scientists apparently have made progress toward solving these problems.

As imperfect as it still is, the Nike Zeus is the most advanced American antimissile concept. U. S. experts are working along a number of other lines in this far theoretical approaches to the problem of defending American cities from an enemy missile assault. None of these is even approaching the test stage.

A supersecret project, called Defender, is exploring a variety of new techniques for developing important components of an antimissile system. It may provide answers to some of the Nike Zeus difficulties.

McNamara is opposed to producing the Nike Zeus as an interim system. In his view, it would be a waste of billions of dollars to produce an antimissile system that was not able to furnish what he considers substantial protection to American cities.

It has been estimated that it would cost about $10 billion to develop enough Nike Zeus batteries to cover perhaps a dozen U. S. population centers.

McNamara is going on the assumption that the Soviet Union is

Mail Robbery Bandit Hunt Coordinated

BOSTON (AP) — All law enforcement agencies working on the million-dollar Plymouth mail truck robbery met at the Massachusetts statehouse Friday to coordinate efforts to track down the bandits.

Atty. Gen. Edward J. McCormack Jr. called the conference. They plan to weld a manhunt squad to ferret out the gang which snatched the nation's biggest cash haul—$1,551,277—after stopping a mail truck on Route 3 in Plymouth Tuesday night.

The third day of round-the-clock action brought these developments:

Another burned automobile was found Thursday night in Canton in southeastern Massachusetts. Officials said the fire had been set. Shortly after the white-gloved robbers emptied the mail truck, a burning automobile was found in the Mattapan section of Boston.

That car contained several dozen signs similar to one placed on Route 3 by a gunman wearing a police uniform to lead traffic away from the holdup scene.

Det. Lt. Peter J. O'Connell of the Rhode Island State Police said three men had been questioned and released. He added his department was not questioning anyone at present.

The chief of Massachusetts detectives, Michael J. Cullinan, said a man was being questioned by Bay State authorities at the Seitate, R.I., police barracks.

In Worcester, in central Massachusetts, police reported finding a Federal Reserve money bag in a park. Capt. John J. Donnelly said that a composite picture sent out from Boston resembles a Worcester man who has been sought for two years or more in a Worcester robbery.

Sixteen money bags were taken in the robbery.

Postal inspectors took an unidentified man to police headquarters Friday to take a lie detector test.

Other inspectors went to Cape Cod to reconstruct the holdup gang's moves. They followed step by step the route taken by the small mail truck from the lower Cape to the holdup spot.

Apportioning Suit Dismissed

NEW YORK (AP) — A three-judge federal court dismissed Friday for the second time since January a suit asking that the state's system of apportioning legislators be declared illegal.

A 31-page opinion said the plaintiffs "have not shown by a fair preponderance of the relevant evidence that 'invidious discrimination' exists."

The suit, filed May 1, 1961, by radio station WMCA of New York City and six individuals, initially was dismissed by the same court last Jan. 12. The U. S. Supreme Court reinstated it June 11 and ordered it sent back to the lower court.

The new opinion was written by U. S. Dist. Judge Richard H. Levett and concurred in by Judges Sterry R. Waterman and Sylvester J. Ryan.

IMPROVEMENT PROGRAM HINTED

A new capital improvement program for Monroe was hinted at Friday by Mayor W. L. Howard, although he declined to go into details. Commenting on a report released earlier in the week by the Monroe Chamber of Commerce describing the city's finances as "healthy," he said that the report "accurately describes the financial condition of the city."

However, he declined to say whether or not the City Council plans to propose an improvement program soon.

Slain Official Reported For Probe Of Estes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Agriculture Department employee whose death still has not been explained was pictured Friday as wanting a full investigation of Billie Sol Estes more than a year ago.

This testimony concerning the late Henry Marshall was given to the Senate investigating subcommittee by Jack Bradshaw, an employee of the Agriculture Department office in College Station, Tex.

Bradshaw also told investigators that notes used to prepare a memo favorable to Estes' cotton allotment transfer applications were destroyed.

Bradshaw said Marshall was "disturbed and unhappy" about Estes' cotton dealings as early as the spring of 1961 — only a short time before he was found shot to death. First ruled a suicide, the case has been reopened and Texas Rangers are going on the theory that Marshall was murdered.

Bradshaw said Marshall told him on several occasions before his death that he was worried about the large-scale allotment transfers by Estes.

Marshall felt an investigation was in order, Bradshaw said, but "felt he was hitting his head against the wall" and that he lacked "adequate guidance in the matter from ... Washington."

U.S. Extends Recognition To Peru Regime

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States recognized the new Peruvian military regime Friday but held up on resuming arms aid and the sending of an ambassador to Lima.

The formal act, climaxing a month of U.S. pressure to steer Peru back toward democratic ways, was carried out in the Peruvian capital by the U.S. charge d'affaires there, Douglas Henderson.

The State Department here issued an accompanying statement stressing that the military junta's restoration of civil liberties and promise of free elections next June were among the main reasons for U.S. resumption of diplomatic ties.

Also announced was resumption of some $81 million in annual U.S. economic aid suspended at the time of the July 18 coup in Lima and plans to go ahead with sending about 60 Peace Corpsmen to work with the Peruvian people.

Slain Official Reported For Probe Of Estes

WASHINGTON (UPI) —An Agriculture Department employee whose death still has not been explained was pictured Friday as wanting a full investigation of Billie Sol Estes more than a year ago.

This testimony concerning the late Henry Marshall was given to the Senate investigating subcommittee by Jack Bradshaw, an employee of the Agriculture Department office in College Station, Tex.

Bradshaw also told investigators that notes used to prepare a memo favorable to Estes' cotton allotment transfer applications were destroyed.

Bradshaw said Marshall was "disturbed and unhappy" about Estes' cotton dealings as early as the spring of 1961 — only a short time before he was found shot to death. First ruled a suicide, the case has been reopened and Texas Rangers are going on the theory that Marshall was murdered.

Bradshaw said Marshall told him on several occasions before his death that he was worried about the large-scale allotment transfers by Estes. Marshall felt an investigation was in order, Bradshaw said, but "felt he was butting his head against the wall" and that he lacked "adequate guidance in the matter from ... Washington."

U.S. Extends Recognition To Peru Regime

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States recognized the new Peruvian military regime Friday but held up on resuming arms aid and the sending of an ambassador to Lima.

The formal act, climaxing a month of U.S. pressure to steer Peru back toward democratic ways, was carried out in the Peruvian capital by the U.S. charge d'affaires there, Douglas Henderson.

The State Department here issued an accompanying statement stressing that the military junta's restoration of civil liberties and promise of free elections next June were among the main reasons for U.S. resumption of diplomatic ties.

Also announced was resumption of some $81 million in annual U.S. economic aid suspended at the time of the July 18 coup in Lima and plans to go ahead with sending about 60 Peace Corpsmen to work with the Peruvian people.
